

My take on Chicken Soup For The Soul : my collection of true, inspirational stories

In their famous book Chicken Soup For The Soul, Jack Canfield and Mark Victor Hansen present more than 100 true, inspirational stories: overcoming obstacles, learning, living your dream... each story illustrates wisdom and determination, and also gives a positive sense of what life is really about.

Now, it is your turn to write a collection of original, meaningful stories !

Here are the three steps of your research paper :

1) Purchase your copy of the book (about 20-25 CHF) and select your three favourite stories.

2) Go into the world and find 5 people that illustrate the message of the book !

In other words: find 5 individuals that embody the wisdom and determination described in the book, meet them and then tell/describe their story. An athlete, a family member, someone you admire... it is up to you, as long as it remains close to the "spirit"/message of the book.

3) Gather these five stories and bind them, in order to create a little booklet.

The subject requires mastery of both written and spoken English, since the final document will be presented in English.

4 participants max.
